My Alma Mater

There stands an old brick building,
tall and majestic still,
For many years a symbol to every Tom, Dick, and Bill.
For those who have walked through those doors
And lingered through the halls
has finally come the answer
that beckons them to their calls.
Up through the years we've struggled,
through good ol' McComb High
And here we've finally learned,
to spread our wings and fly.
But not without a lot of work,
"up burnin' the midnite oil"
Just to get a slip of paper
to end our high school toil.
The football games, cheering crowds,
Hard seats and blankets too,
All have gone together to make us each true blue.
When we're in school we grumble,
"Will the day NEVER end?"
But when that final day arrives,
we find we've left a friend.
Yes, with dreary hearts we leave,
our feet fall slow and heavy,
But then they quicken with each stride
for new things are ahead,
To mold and finally shape us,
and leave in our stead
A place for another, small and worthy head.

Will

We, the Senior Class of 1961, hereby will and bequeath the following unforgettable traits, supreme characteristics, and invaluable possessions:

To the Juniors we will our ability to have zesty, peppy pizza parties.

To the Sophomores we will our new government books, providing there is something left of them when we are done with them.

To the Freshmen we will our "solemn, quiet" homerooms.

Joellen Shiedler wills her ability to crack gum to Herbert J. Bryan so he can keep the beat in mixed chorus.

Glenn Moore wills his ability to argue with teachers when he knows he is wrong to Shirley Lora so she can keep up my tradition.

Cynthia Caton wills her Florida suntan to Virginia Collingwood so she will have a genuine "man-tan."

Paul Smith wills his basketball ability to Bob Wade so he can really be on the ball.

Don Ensign wills his ability to rub noses to Kenny Agner. Remember Kenny, watch those germs.

Shirley Orwick wills her expensive-looking wardrobe to Johnny Burnett so he can stay in competition with her sister, Sharon.

Ruth Thomas wills her after-school taxi service to Don Andonian providing Don takes the girls up town from school as she always did so graciously.

Sidney Agner wills her assortment of leotards to Mr. Jones so he can keep the attention of his 9th period study hall.

Paul Brickman wills his black, curly hair to Sid Bishop so he can charm the Junior girls as he has.

Darryl McDowell wills his matched set of bow legs to Wild Bill Lucas so he can have his own T.V. series.

Marie Wise wills her clarinet playing to Janis Snavely so she can get first chair her Senior year.

Russell Thomas wills his nickname "Yogi" to John Rinehart provided he can live up to my reputation.

Carole Walsh wills her vast store of jokes to Vi Lanker so she can keep up the interest in the back of the government class.

Donald Ewing wills his ability to stay away from girls and out of dark corners to Bob Amstutz knowing he needs it badly.

William Glaser wills his little black beard to David Rader so he can impress the girls as he did.

Jerry Williams wills his ability to sleep in chapel and not get caught to Chuck Like, knowing, of course, Chuck will probably be asleep when this is read.

Romaine Breece wills her ability to get up late but still get to school before the janitors to Mrs. Bayer. Remember Mrs. Bayer, be here promptly at 8:15.

Dan Lora wills his moody disposition to Lynn Tate so the halls will be a little quieter at noon.

Sharon Bryan wills her cheerleading ability to Barbara Borgelt. Don't give up, Barbara.

Edward Spitler wills his nickname "Big Ed" to Terry Berger providing they call him "Big Terry."

Rebecca Shoop wills her shrinking waistline to Bob Myers so he can regain his youthful appearance.

Thomas Shrewsbury wills his "young looking" appearance to Kay Ewing, providing she doesn't over-do-it.
 Harriet Miller wills her ability to sneak in through the basement at 3:30 A.M. after the Junior-Senior banquet to Jill Rider, remember parents need their rest.
 La Vere Herringshaw wills his driving ability to Bob Billingsley so he can keep the insurance companies in business.
 Marilyn Pickens wills her sleepy looks to Sharon Butler so she can relax her big brown eyes a while.
 Roberta Harden wills her ability to not go steady to Marilyn Rider, seeing that she needs the ability.
 Richard Williams wills his love of practical jokes to Laura Shoop, but you mustn't go TOO far, Laura.
 Arvina Swinehart wills her long-tall physique to Madelyn Shrewsbury so she can look in the mirror without standing in the sink.
 Virginia Leader wills her Deshler Address Book to Vicki Todd knowing she would like to have it.
 David Baughman wills his love for guitars and country music to Doug Crego providing he is willing to play at chapel as the students march in.
 Elaine Sherick wills her position as librarian to Martha Steiner providing she keeps it as quiet as Elaine always did.
 Eileen McMaster wills her naturally curly eye lashes to Mrs. Rodgers because she doesn't have any.
 Dennis Altstaetter wills his nose to Jane Edie so she can hook as many boys as he did girls.
 Janet Foltz wills her queenly grace to Maxine Routson, remember Maxine, you must give up banana splits.
 James Lora wills his ability to get along with teachers to Marjorie Deerwester provided her apples aren't as wormie as his.
 Donovan Courtright wills his "dish pans hands" to Linda George so she can be the man of the house.
 Carol Endrek wills her left-hand shorthand notes to any future shorthand student who thinks they can read them.
 Laura Parker wills her red hair to Susan Rader so she can save money on hair rinse.
 Vernon Burnett wills his curly hair to Connie Wells so she can forget about nightly pin-ups.
 Joanne Kerley wills her attentiveness in Home Economics to Nancy Shoemaker because she seems to be bored with it all. (Take a tip Nancy, the true way to Dan's heart is through his stomach.)
 Thomas Nagy wills all his Democratic buttons to Kay Latta so she can collect a new set.
 Wayne Rader wills his "Don LaRue" charms to any good-looking girl who will have them.
 Barbara Feltman wills her ability to skip lunch to Mr. Detamore seeing that he needs the advice.

Charming chairmen

1960 Junior —

On May 21, 1960, the Junior Class gave a farewell banquet for the graduation class of 1960.

Upon entering into the Hawaiian atmosphere the guests were greeted by grass-skirted girls and Hawaiian-clad boys who customarily placed colorful leis around their necks. After being seated, everyone gazed at the beautiful displays featuring an enchanted lagoon reflecting the lustrous rays of the moon with a snow-capped volcano in the background. A variety of pictures and colored paper typical of Hawaii, and the class mottos, decorated the walls.

The three course dinner, prepared by the junior mothers, was served by a group of sophomores.

Calendar

1960 Homecoming

The highlights of the 1960 football season were the Homecoming festivities and the football game. The exciting game was played against the Black Knights from Van Buren. The Panthers defeated their opponents 49-6 in a well played contest.

Our lovely queen, Janet Foltz, was crowned by her escort, Denny Altstaetter. Her attendants were; senior, JoEllen Shiedler; junior, Sharon Orwick; sophomore, Sharon Butler; freshman, Sharon Miller. The senior escort was Junior Herringshaw, the junior escort was Chuck Like; sophomore, David Foltz, and the freshman was Lynn Tate.

A tasty meal was enjoyed by many people who came to the senior Homecoming supper, previous to the game.

SEATED: Mr. Smith, Sandra Arrington, Shirley Lora, Janet Smith, Sharon Orwick, Grace Leader, Janis Snavely.
STANDING: Bob Wade, Bob Zeller, Susan Rader, Bill Morse, Vicki Logan, Bob Amstutz, Jim Bryan, Ed Ingold, Bob Myers.

Guidance Class

This year a new counseling program was instituted in McComb. The personal advisor and vocational guidance counselor is Miss Painter. Each student in the upper six grades was given a period of private advice and counsel. The eighth grade had a period which was entitled "Guidance." This period was devoted to mapping out their whole high school career. In this way, the students could take the subjects required for their life work.
